BOTH FIGHT FOR ICHANG; RESULT IS DOUBTFUL

Szechuen Presses Hard While Wu's Troops Stoutly Resist

PEACE IS HIS AIM

Call For Conference Is Widely Spread Except To Peking Gov't.

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Hankow, September 6.—News from Ichang states that the Szechuenese troops captured important positions on the southern side of the river, opposite Ichang, on the night of the 2nd instant. The Northern troops, re-inforced, recaptured the positions the following day, only to be driven out once more by the Southerners on the 4th instant. The Szechuenese are putting up a fierce struggle.

DR. SUN DETERMINED
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, September 5.—Speaking at a banquet to a number of Army and Navy officers yesterday, Dr. Sun Yat-sen exhorted them as to the necessity for the projected expedition against the North, while Dr. Wu Ting-fang denounced General Wu Pei-fu, asserting that the latter received Southern money two years ago, and now turned against the South.

General Chen Chiung-ming is holding an important military council in Kwangsi before the expedition to the North begins, and the preparations for the expedition are still being pushed forward with great activity.

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Peking, September 6.—Word is prevalent in foreign circles here that the American Government has instructed its Minister and Consuls in China to investigate into the possibilities of unity between North and South.

WARN WOMEN AWAY
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, September 5.—It is reported that the consuls have advised lady residents of Ichang not to return thither.

According to a report from an authentic source, after the lull in the fighting, the consular body at Ichang met the two opposing commanders with the object of effecting a truce, in view of the pending conference between Hupeh and Hunan.

General Wu Pei-fu's subordinate commander was inclined to consent, but the Szechuen commander said it would be necessary to refer to his G.O.C., at present at Kweifu. The consuls have preceded thither by gunboat.

No change in the situation is reported from Ichang today, and the landing parties from the warships will remain as long as the present situation continues.

MANY RUSH TO WU

Peking, September 1.—Many prominent politicians of all parties are assembling in Hankow for the purpose of consulting with General Wu Pei-fu with regard to the conference to be held to discuss the uniting of the North and the South. There seems to be no lack of variety in the parties represented. Members of the Chiaotung Clique are present, members of Lian Chi-chiao's party, members of Sun Yat-sen's party, and even members of the Chen Hsuen-hui, the party that was formerly affiliated with the Kiangsi military group. Wu Pei-fu appointed his secretary to meet and talk with these men. This report was received from Chinese circles.

Six Million Out Of Work, U.S. Plans Relief Measures

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Sept. 5.—In the course of his annual Labor Day message, Mr. Gompers (President of the American Federation of Labor) said the number of unemployed in America at present was estimated at six million.

Mr. Davis (Secretary of Labor) in a speech at Detroit, confirmed Mr. Gompers' figures and urged the undertaking of public works and other relief measures.

B. W. Fleisher Looks For Great Results From The Pacific Peace Conference

Publisher Of Japan Advertiser Justifies Optimism By Stating It Is Peoples Not Governments That Are Calling For Disarmament

"I am an optimist as regards the coming Conference and I believe the results will warrant this optimism. It hardly seems probable that any nation can afford to isolate itself today because of selfish, aggressive, or materialistic motives. The Conference will at least reveal where each nation stands on these Pacific problems and even should any nation take such a stand, that open acknowledgment would be a public gain. I do not look for any such result. It is not a question of details or specific problems, it all depends on whether the principal Powers are sincere in their desire to find a settlement of the Pacific problems and a limitation of naval armaments. I believe they are and I believe that common ground will be found for agreement which will be to the benefit of the world and especially to this part of the world."

This is the opinion of Mr. B. W. Fleisher, proprietor and editor of the Japan Advertiser and the Trans-Pacific, and representative for the Far East of the Public Ledger Foreign News Syndicate, which is the latest enterprise of Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher of the Saturday Evening Post, the Ladies' Home Journal and the Country Gentleman. Mr. Fleisher was one of the founders of the CHINA PRESS and was General Manager in 1911 and 1912. He has just recently returned to Japan from the United States where he spent considerable time at Washington. He is now making a short stay in Shanghai on his way to Peking, then going to Dairen.

Continuing Mr. Fleisher said:

CALL FROM PEOPLE

"The principal governments concerned cannot afford to permit the coming Conference at Washington to end in failure. The call for such a Convention was issued by President Harding but it actually came from the people of the United States; and in England it is backed strongly by public opinion. The people have been doing some real thinking these past few years. They are tired of war talk and high taxes.

"Unlike the Peace Conference where the problems were conflicting and world wide and the interests were widely scattered, the issues at the coming Conference at Washington are narrowed down to certain definite problems; and the three leading naval Powers of the world are the three Powers with the largest interests in the Pacific. Japan is more vitally affected and concerned because her interests are practically solely in the Pacific."

Asked as to the attitude of Japan, Mr. Fleisher said: The Harding proposal for a Conference took Japan by surprise. Opinions were conflicting and contradictory because of this, for the government was as unprepared as the press or the people. There was no leadership, no inspiration and the press and people in Japan are dependent on leadership for initiative. This was followed by a period of suspicion. The motives of the United States were doubted and it was generally feared that it was a trap set to catch Japan. Gradually and only within the past week or ten days the realisation came that the motives of the United States are sincere. The press comments have changed from suspicion to a more constructive attitude and they are now approving of the Conference and discussing its many phases. In fact a number of the leading newspapers, including The Osaka Mainichi, which has the largest circulation of any publication in Japan, and other newspapers are demanding that the conference be held in public, claiming that Japan has more to gain through an open conference than by secret diplomacy, which is quite an unexpected attitude in Japan.

MILITARISTS LOSE HOLD

"How about the influence of the militarists in Japan on the Conference? The militarists are no doubt still the dominant factor in Japanese politics, but they are gradually losing their hold on the public. The Siberian policy has not proven popular. The people can only see the results. It has cost Japan 800,000,000 yen and thousands of lives without compensating results. The Chinese policy of the militarists also has not proven popular. All the people now see that they have made enemies where they should have made friends and that it will take decades to overcome this ill-will. The militarists still have the racial equality question to pull out to unite the people. This is a popular appeal and like good politicians they use it wherever they can.

"Nor are the militarists in Japan by any means united in their opposition. There is a powerful faction decidedly in favor of it. General Tanaka, until recently Minister of War, is using every effort to further the cause of the convention. General Tanaka resigned because of actual ill-health. He is a protegee of Prince Yamagata and usually reflects the opinions of this dominant figure in Japanese politics. General Tanaka must not be confused with Lieut. General Tanaka, who is going to Washington as an advisor of the military department. Lieut. General Tanaka has not the breadth of vision of the liberal views of his former chief, General Tanaka."

POLICIES SHIFTING

What is your opinion as regards China at the Conference?

"Aside from the specific problems regarding China which may and will come up at the Conference for settlement broad principles must be decided upon. The specific problems of today, no matter how important they may appear may not be the specific problems of tomorrow. It may be Shantung today and Fukien, Szechuen, or any other province or question tomorrow. As with specific problems so with policies of governments—policies shift and change with time and conditions. Fundamentally it is the broad principles which must be agreed upon and measures taken so that they will be lived up to. The 'open door,' 'equal opportunities,' and 'territorial sovereignty' of China, which have at different times been agreed to by the Powers in the form or another and which are today but empty diplomatic phrases, derided because abused, will no doubt be put into some definite shape so as to transform them into practical and effective realities when in operation.

"It is not improbable that an agreement will be concluded that will establish an international court or commission of arbitration to which all matters will be referred for final settlement on all questions that cannot be settled through the ordinary channels of diplomacy.

"The goal aimed at is so much larger in significance and so much more important to the world's future peace than any of the specific problems which may come up for consideration that there should be united public sentiment behind the convention. It seems to me that it is the duty of every one to support the convention and to use their influence to make for success. There will be plenty of time after the convention to call 'wolf' in case of failure."

FEDERAL TROOPS WITH AIRCRAFT DISARM MINERS

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Sept. 5.—Vigorous action by Federal troops has ended the insurrection of striking miners in West Virginia. Three battalions of infantry, aided by scouting aeroplanes, encircled several hundred armed men whom they deprived of their weapons. The remainder of the miners—an "army" numbering several thousands—then dispersed.

President Harding has ordered a special committee of the Senate to investigate the conditions in the West Virginian coalfields, where the men allege persecution and terrorism by the mine-owners.

The two British submarines, L9 and L15, which have arrived in Shanghai from the English Channel, will leave for Hongkong Friday. Until their departure they will lie off the Bund. The two subs were visited by many British subjects yesterday, for which privilege permits were obtainable at the British Consulate-General.

BAVARIANS LONG FOR RESTORATION OF THE MONARCHY

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, September 5.—The ex-King of Bavaria attended a Monarchist festival on the occasion of his "name day" in the village of Wildenwarth in Bavaria. The Burgomaster, in a speech expressing fervent loyalty to the dynsty, said "Happy will be the day when the old blue and white colors are again flying over every house." The ex-King, speaking in reply, said that, though times were hard, they must keep up their courage, hoping for better things.

BADEN FOLLOWS LEAD

Berlin, Sept. 4.—The Baden Government has followed the lead of other State Governments in issuing a proclamation in agreement with the Imperial measures. On the other hand, sanguinary collisions between Police and demonstrators are reported from Coburg, in Bavaria, in which a number of persons were wounded by hand-grenades and gun-fire.

Germans Undergo No Trouble With Chinese Judiciary

Peking, September 4.—The giving up of the rights of extra-territoriality has not thus far caused the German residents and business people in China any hardship, according to a prominent foreigner who was interviewed today. Since the signing of the agreement only two cases have come up and these were settled in the Mixed Court at Shanghai, otherwise the disputes that have arisen have been settled successfully out of court by the means of compromise.

The Chinese courts in the large cities, where the judges are foreign trained, and where cases have been tried, have shown themselves very fair and straight in their decisions. A study of the judgments has shown their activities in the most favorable light.

For a long time the Chinese have complained that they were never given a chance to show how sound and fair they could be in their law decisions, and kept clamoring for an opportunity. When the opportunity did actually come, it was when one hundred thousand Russians were handed over to their care with some ten thousand cases pending, with the natural result that the courts were swamped.

The Chinese are now on their mettle with regard to the treatment of the new group which comes under their jurisdiction; there is only a small number of Germans in China, and it is believed that they will receive the very best of treatment from the Chinese, because of the fact, if for no other reason, that the Chinese have at last got the opportunity to show the competency of the Chinese courts.

TO BUILD WIRELESS

Hongkong, Sept. 6.—It is stated that General Chen Chiung-ming has decided to erect wireless stations at Wuchow and different cities in Kwangtung.

What We Really Miss From Our Old Home Life

By Elsie McCormick

When people ask us what phases of home life we miss most in China, we usually refer to grand opera, good lectures and art exhibits. It sounds well, even if we don't explain that much of our grand opera knowledge was derived from short stories digested between the five-cent Darlings and Scribner, the Eccentric Massed Songbird; also that most of our art education was the result of arranging to meet parties of friends on the steps of the Metropolitan Museum.

As a matter of fact, however, the people and things we really miss in China haven't much to do with the arts. There is the Pullman conductor, for instance. Outside the general delivery clerks in a large city postoffice, there is no class of men in the country who wear such a look of omniscient benevolence; of knowing and forgiving all traits of human nature than Pullman conductors. Just as general delivery clerks know all the subterfuges of forbidden love affairs, so Pullman conductors are mellowed by long years of helping mothers with five children; of putting little Johnny Bright, who is traveling alone, off at Albia, Iowa; of tactfully breaking up a tete a tete between a hosiery drummer and a sixteen-year-old flapper on the way to boarding-school; and of kindly but firmly informing maiden ladies that Precious Toctums must ride in the baggage car. Pullman conductors are usually middle-aged people with heavy gold watch chains and half a dozen insignia of fraternal orders in their lapels.

It is our theory that the great American novel is going to be written some day by a Pullman conductor. We have heard them tell of midnight grapplings with lunatics, of a middle aged wife's appeal to rescue her husband from a vampire across the aisle, of hold-ups in the sage-brush, and of phantom trains across the desert. Their skill as raconteurs never makes itself evident until they have passed Chicago, and the free and easy spirit of the West limbers up the social vertebrae.

Then there is George, the coffee-colored porter, who always turns on the steam heat as far as it will go and who never can open the window; who puts the passengers to bed immediately after dinner, so that he will have leisure to play African golf with Joe Johnson in the next car; and who never can find a millinery bag for a perishable summer hat until the gift of a quarter suddenly improves his eyesight. George usually has an expansive golden smile which makes one forgive his trick of supplying Lower 8 with the shoes that belong to Upper 10, and of taking each passenger out in the corridor for a whisk-broom overhauling with a fifty cent tariff attached.

We must confess, too, that the Oriental individual in a rusty green coat who brings us our [illegible] and the wan [illegible] our home correspondence bears but little resemblance to the blue uniformed gentleman of similar profession whom we used to know back home. Where, oh where, is the letter carrier who used to read our postcards as he came leisurely up the street, who remarked cheerfully, "See you got another letter from South America," and who, after blowing the whistle as a warning, always hit the middle of the front door with the magazines and parcel mail?

He is sadly absent in the Orient, as absent as the manicurist who used to call us "Dearie" and tell us, as she pushed the chamois, about the gentleman who owned a car, but whose attentions she rejected because a working girl can't be too careful. The manicurist we have now is extremely reticent on the subject of her gentleman friends, though given to such leading questions as "Missee go partyside last night?"

When an indiscriminately clad individual collects our hard-earned coppers in the tram, we think somewhat sadly of the brass-buttoned conductor at home, who always stopped at our street and waited significantly until we reached the end of the chapter or the bottom of the column. We have thought, too, of the suburban conductor who went to town each morning with an empty car, but a pocket full of orders for bird-seed and oatmeal, samples of ribbon to be matched, and a brace of unstamped letters to post. And where is the genial commander of the electric chariot who used to pay the fare of forgetful people with a friendly, "That's all right, miss. Just give it to me any time. I'm number 125."

In all these generalisations, we except, of course, the New York functionaries who batter a hysterical mob into a subway car and then close the door on any indiscriminate arms and legs that happen to be at large.

We remember standing on the deck of a transport with a thousand or so soldiers returning from France. The jagged New York skyline, the Statue of Liberty, and the welcoming tug aroused a certain amount of enthusiasm, but there was no general outburst until the liner pushed up to the dock and somebody shouted, "Hey, fellows, look at the cop!" whereupon a common or Tammany policeman in a blue uniform that bagged at the knees got an ovation which almost rocked the boat.

After all, it's the little, commonplace contacts of life that we are likely to miss most. And somehow, it isn't exactly surprising. Can you imagine anybody being homesick for the Grand Canyon?

CRASH OF WALLS BURIES WORKMEN UNDER DEBRIS OF FORMER FRENCH HOTEL

Ten Or More May Be Dead Neath Tons Of Brick--Firemen Render Yeoman Service.

SHORE UP WALLS

Tottering Structure Held Unsafe For Salvage Owing To Tottering Brickwork And Beams

With a crash of masonry heard for blocks the portal of the old Hotel de France, corner of Szechuen Road and Rue de Consulat, collapsed at 8 o'clock last night and five workmen, it is feared, were buried in the debris.

Rescuers set to work to dig out their comrades, and workmen on the upper floors rushed to the windows to watch.

At eight-thirty the inner wall gave way, the floors creaked and twisted, and in a flash the building gutted itself into a mass of beams, flooring and plaster covering the rescuers.

For the next few minutes nothing could be seen but dust and the vague outlines of the section of the wall still intact. Injured workmen were frantically crying for help. A second rescue party came to their relief, and pried apart the beams and bamboo protection sheds.

Of the first rescuing party five were dug from the ruins with the assistance of the French Fire brigade, and taken to the hospital. At midnight, when the digging crew ceased work, the chief carpenter said there probably were five or six more workmen still buried.

Some of the timbers and bricks were hurled to the street and would have occasioned casualties had the accident occurred during the day.

Chinese bystanders who had witnessed the collapse gave various estimates from five to twenty for the number of workmen caught by the falling structure. The French police, however, were of the belief that all the injured coolies had been rescued.

It was stated last night, too late for verification, that one of the injured had died.

REMODELING BUILDING

The Hotel de France and site were sold August 1 to Mr. Tsu Lan-fang, a piece goods merchant of Shanghai, who was having the building remodeled as the home of a new commercial exchange. The contractor had orders to rush the work to completion by September 16. Yesterday the shifts were doubled, making a force of 100 men at work day and night.

The cause of the collapse could not be ascertained last night, but it is supposed that the supports under the new portal were removed before the concrete was sufficiently set. The breakdown of the doorway weakened the substructure, and the collapse of the wall and floors followed as a consequence.

The Fire Departments of the International Settlement and French Concession were early on the scene, and assisted in removing the wreckage. The shock of the second collapse extinguished the electric lights on the east side of the block, and repairmen had to be called to restore the current.

DR. KOO HAS WORD WITH LEAGUE AS TO DUTIES

Chinese Minister Gives Trenchant Outline Of World Needs

TO AVERT WARS

Horrible Catastrophes Must Be Prevented For All Time

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Geneva, September 5.—In his opening address at the first meeting of the second General Assembly of the League of Nations this morning, Dr. Wellington Koo who presided, as Chairman of the League Council, said he was glad to see that the membership of the League had increased this year from 41 to 48 members. Conceived in a spirit of co-operation and devoted to the great ideal of peace and justice, the League, Dr. Koo said, was becoming a permanent and necessary part of the mechanism for making the conduct of international affairs safe for the great majority of humanity.

In the most important task devolving from the Covenant, namely the maintenance of peace and the settlement of international differences, the League had given proof of ever-increasing influence and power. Since the last Assembly it had continued, four international differences of great political importance had been dealt with. The guarantee of justice and impartiality stipulated by the Covenant, and resulting from the very character of the League, was coming to be more and more appreciated by governments.

INT'L. JUSTICE COURT

Turning to the agenda of the present Assembly, Dr. Koo referred particularly to the formation of the International Court of Justice and the election of judges, the disarmament question, and amendments to the Covenant. By the latter, he said, the League would show itself capable of transformation and development in accordance with the general desire of the members of the world body politic. "The Assembly is a union of nations destined to avert the horrible catastrophes of wars and to establish practical means for facilitating the conduct of international affairs and developing the well-being of humanity," declared Dr. Koo in conclusion.

After the opening address, the Assembly elected the committee for the verification of mandates. This brought the morning's sitting to a close. In the afternoon took place the election of a President by secret ballot. The first ballot resulted as follows (39 voters): M. Van Karnebeek (Holland) 19 votes, Senhor Da Cunha (Brazil) 12, Senor Blanco (Uruguay) 4, M. Motta (Switzerland) 4. As this did not give an absolute majority, a second ballot was taken resulting: M. van Karnebeek 21, Senhor Da Cunha 15. M. van Karnebeek was accordingly elected President.

Dr. Wellington Koo on behalf of the Assembly congratulated M. van Karnebeek, who then took the chair. After thanking the Assembly for the honor done to him and his country, the President emphasised the necessity, in the light of experience gained last year, for obtaining tangible results and making progress in the present great endeavor to replace the regime of the balance of power by that of a judicial organisation embracing the whole of humanity.

KOO'S SPEECH PRAISED

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 6.—Dr. Wellington Koo's remarkable speech at the opening of the League of Nations Assembly is much commented on and highly appreciated and his able conduct of the proceedings generally is the subject of favorable comment on all sides. Warm applause greeted the speech, in which Dr. Koo hailed the increase in the membership of the League not only as a substantial accession of strength but as progress towards universality. He declared that the League had passed the stage of development

MOPLAH AFFAIR MERELY LOCAL SAYS VICEROY

(Reuter's Service)

Simla, September 5.—Lord Reading, the Viceroy, addressing a joint sitting of Council of State and Legislative Assembly, said the outcome of prolonged negotiations in Afghanistan was still uncertain, but, despite certain untoward complications and unexpected difficulties, he hoped that an abiding treaty of friendship with Afghanistan would be concluded soon.

There was much that was hopeful for the future in the internal conditions of India, continued His Excellency, although there was still unrest in certain parts of the country which demanded serious consideration. He denied that the Moplah rising was a symptomatic condition of the whole of India, as that district had always been known as a storm center.

The situation in Malabar was now, he added, practically in hand. He attributed the present outbreak to the effects of the non-co-operation movement. He said there were signs that the activity of one section of the movement had been devoted to attempts—which, happily, had been unsuccessful—to seduce the soldiers and police from their allegiance.

COMMENT OF PRESS

London, Sept. 6.—Commenting on Lord Reading's speech, the Daily Chronicle remarks on the absence of reference in it to relations between Great Britain and Japan, but declares it to be a fact that the feelings of Indians for the great Asiatic Power had not been overlooked in the determination to renew the Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

EIGHT SCHOOLS HEADS DISCUSS THE RE-OPENING

Peking, September 4.—Representatives of the faculties of all of the eight Government Schools in Peking with the exception of the Peking Government University met yesterday afternoon at the Peking Institute of Fine Arts to discuss the question of re-opening this Fall. Admission of new pupils to the seven schools represented at the meeting yesterday will take place on the 5th instant.

The meeting also decided to send an urgent request to the Cabinet to see to it that the Ministry of Communications lives up to the arrangement whereby the Minister of Communications is to turn over the monthly educational funds agreed upon promptly and directly to the Ministry of Education.

Chinese Laborers Want Savings Out Of French Bank

Chinese laborers at Brienne-le-Chateau, France, are among those who have suffered a temporary inconvenience through the closing of the Banque Industrielle de Chine. A committee of these laborers has telegraphed to the Peking Government stating that they and their comrades transmitted 70,070 francs to China through the Banque Industrielle before that institution closed its doors and that they learn from their families for whom the money was destinated that these remittances have not yet reached their destinations.

They state that 70,070 francs represent a large sum to men who are earning but six francs a day each and request the Government to take the matter up with the French Government and the Banque in an attempt to get the funds delivered to whom they are destined. Their families, they say, are in urgent need of the remittances made to them by their laborer relatives in France.

France Would Use Boxer Indemnity To Reopen Bank

Peking, September 4.—Mr. Chen Lu, Chinese Minister to France, has telegraphed the Peking Government, according to Chinese reports, to the effect that the French Government has proposed that ten million francs of the French share of the Boxer indemnity fund be used for the purpose of refloating the Banque Industrielle de Chine, and that the ten million francs will be considered the Chinese share of the capital of the new venture.

Mr. Chen says that thus far no decision has been reached owing to the fact that the proposition must be submitted to the Chamber of Deputies, but that action will be taken as soon as the approval of the Chamber is received.

'ALL BLACK' IDEA FOR AFRICA IS HELD MADNESS

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, September 5.—An international congress of black races has opened in Paris, with a French negro deputy, M. Diagne, as chairman. British India is represented by Mr. Judhava.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Sept. 5.—At the first meeting of the "All-Black" International Congress here the Chairman M. Diagne, French deputy for Senegal, in his inaugural address, strongly condemned extremist ideas and declared that acts of violence, disorders and anarchy would not secure for colored men the aims they had in view. He also opposed Marcus Garvay's theory of "Africa for the blacks." "That," said M. Diagne, "is a mad idea. We must not compromise a just cause by rash and useless action." In M. Diagne's opinion it was only by evolution and not by revolution that the All-Black movement could succeed. Other speakers supported the Chairman, and expressed the hope that a special section for the study of questions affecting the black race might be formed within the League of Nations.

Trains To Carry Guards Against Northern Bandits

Peking, August 31.—Bandits in the Wushli Region along the Chinese Eastern Railway are causing considerable trouble along the line, according to Chinese Consul-General Feng Chi-kuang at Vladivostok, and the Vladivostok Ministry of Communications has proposed to the Peking Government that a Russian guard of ten men and two officers be permitted to travel on Mail Train No. 3, bound West, as far as Suifeng Station, returning to Vladivostok on eastbound Mail Train No. 4. The Vladivostok Government believes that this is the only way to protest these trains from bandits and has informed the Chinese Consul-General that it hopes that the Peking Government will not interfere with the arrangement as proposed.

Peking, September 3.—A Japanese armored train of four cars, manned by an officer and 30 men and equipped with two machine guns has reached Suifeng on the Chinese Eastern Railway bound West, according to a despatch to the Central Government from Tuchun Sun Lieh-chen of Kirin. Mixed Court Notes

Judgment was given yesterday in the International Mixed Court in the sum of Tls. 7,500 in favor of the plaintiff Messrs. Katz and Co., as balance of reimbursement due on a shipment of lard valued at Tls. 10,000 rejected some time ago by a client, one Kai Nz-sing. Plaintiff's through counsel submitted that defendant had funds included in a brother's estate, and asked that these funds be utilised for the purposes of the judgment. The Court so ordered.

Loh Pao-ming, a Shanghai merchant appeared in court yesterday with a petition for exemption from a court order requiring his presence in Shantung as witness in certain law proceedings. He offered that it was not within the court's jurisdiction to order him to Shantung, that he had never been in that section of China, nor had he any desire to go now. His business interests here would suffer were he to abide by the order. The court was adjourned to consider the matter further.

A coolie, Zia Tse-zung who had stolen several brass locks off a building under course of construction, was sentenced to three weeks in jail yesterday after a short hearing. It was testified that the contractors of the building, situated in Kinnear road had lost every lock they put on the unfinished building when they ceased work for the night. Zia on Monday was caught in the act of stealing the last lock. Witnesses testified that he unscrewed the lock with a piece of cash.

Forty Chinese shopkeepers, assistants and servants of the Seward Road and Broadway district were fined $1 to $4 in a general clean up crusade by the Hongkew police. The charges were chiefly failure to keep the premises clean both in front and rear, and permitting furniture and household effects to block footpaths.

I. Ivanovitch, a Finn, complained against a Frederic Waldemar Solo, a countryman, that the latter had misappropriated three beaver skins valued at $1,000 which had been entrusted to him for sale. Solo explained that the skins had been stolen from him by a Chinese while he was soliciting their sale. The case was remanded for hearing before the Russian Assessor.

Yo Sing-yen, a coolie was sentenced to four months in jail and ordered expelled after a hearing on a charge of having stolen $5 worth of tobacco from a wharf in Pootung. Yo told the Court that the tobacco had been given him by a man in payment of a debt for bananas sold him by accused. Yo had had two previous convictions, and each time had been expelled.

A Chinese girl named Sung Wong Sz, who had stolen a suit of silk clothing and gold bangles valued at $35 on August 27, and who came back to the same address, 446 Woochang Road, and appropriated another pair of silk pants valued at $5, only to get caught in the act pleaded leniency on the grounds that she had stolen property but twice before. Her case is under advisement.

The Council agreed that the Note showed fresh progress in the negotiations, and considered it unnecessary to intervene, but decided to request the principal Allies to hasten negotiations with the United States.

Fight With Time To Cut Channels For Floods In Region Wrecked By Quake

BY JOSEF W. HALL

Peking, September 4.—A dramatic story comes from Kansu regarding the climax of the Earthquake Relief excavation work there. Mr. John Andrews, director of the relief work, writes, under dates of the latter part of July, graphically describing the fight of the superintendent and thousands of coolies against time, in an effort to complete the cutting of channels through thirteen immense blockages before the fall of the late summer torrents.

In all more than ten thousand men have been employed under Mr. Andrews and his Chinese director, Magistrate Chow, who have been in turn responsible to the Lanchow committee. Two hundred thousand dollars have been spent, largely sent through the Peking United International Famine Relief Committee. The Lanchow organisation has also received gifts directly from Shanghai and other sources.

Donors and workers have the satisfaction of knowing that they have, in Kansu, accomplished a piece of most effective life and property-saving. Following the recommendation of the investigation expedition, the relief committees have undertaken the work which seemed most necessary to the prevention of further suffering and loss of life, and the only task which, in view of the fact that relief funds are not unlimited, seemed possible with the money which could reasonably be expected would be given for Kansu relief. Officials in Kansu are still appealing for aid for reconstruction and replacement of lost agricultural animals. These appeals, made partially with the ulterior purpose of obtaining remission of the provincial taxes and opportunity to "squeeze," are not likely to be heeded. It is true that the inhabitants of the quake still still face a gigantic task in the reconstruction of their peasant homes and ruined cities, but this is something which the victims themselves must gradually accomplish. Food is abundant, and with the entire summer and autumn to build shelters, there need be no loss of life from cold during the coming winter. The relief work has removed the threat of further loss of life and property by flood and washout.

STRUGGLE WITH TIME

Native efforts to cut channels through the dams of friable loess created by the land slips were begun with the spring thaw. The relief committee came to the reinforcement of these pitifully inadequate efforts early in June. From the beginning it was realised that a struggle against time would be necessary, for the Summer torrents were not to catch the work half-done, and under all expenditure upon it would be useless. The loess dams were insufficient to hold the body of water which the Summer rains would send down against them. If they were not opened the result would be a complete flooding of the valleys previously only partially inundated, and a consequent bursting out of the water at some unexpected point, creating devastation and carrying away villages and cities for scores of miles below.

While the channels averaging a half-mile or more in length, were being cut the water continued to rise, making the required depth continually less. In some places only a ditch was necessary, in others a canal fifty feet deep. Once a bare trickle of water could flow through, the water itself opened up the canal and soon tore a tremendous ravine through the loess dams, finding its original stream-bed below. The excavators worked as many blockages as possible at one time, but endeavored to complete the opening work in progression from the lowest blockage up-stream. It can be seen that the release of the water from upper blockages before lower blockages could be "liquidated" would create a very difficult situation.

In fact, as the work neared completion, this is exactly what happened. The rains came unexpectedly early—in July rather than August. As Mr. Andrews tells the story: "Just after I got in to Chingning (above which there are six successive blockages of one river) a tremendous thunderstorm occurred. This made me so anxious concerning the rising waters of the lakes that I felt I must leave immediately for the diggings. A word of explanation here. Our uppermost digging upon which we are working is very large. When we can let the water through here it will flow down twenty miles to the second digging at a place called Tsin Li P'u, a mile and a half further to the Swen Chia Ko digging, the same distance again to Tu Kung Tsai, then to Mi Chia Ken, and finally through the last excavation at Ih Hsien Tu. All of these diggings were through except Tu Kung Tsai (where those who saw the quake pictures will remember that the grandfather and grandmother of the clan alone of the inhabitants of the village were unburied by the slide). Behind the Tsih Li Pu and Ih Hsien Tu dams two tremendous lakes had formed which threatened to inundate the entire surrounding country. When I got to Tsin Li Pu I found the population in consternation. The people of a nearby village were moving to higher ground. The water had risen to within two feet of the level of the fields. For some reason the water did not flow through our channel (digging as we have to in loose earth, the sides of course fall in and cause partial blockages and we have to leave it to the water to push its way through).

WATER RELEASES FLOOD

"When affairs were at this pass, a tremendous thunderstorm broke, and fifteen minutes later the water went through the channel at Tsin Li Pu with a bang, tearing it out to a great depth and width. It was in the nick of time. The flood rushed down through Swen Chia Ko, tearing open our canal there; then surged into the partially-cut canal at Tu Kung Tsai. The water is still rushing through these cuts and will probably force the remainder of the channel at Tu Kung Tsai. The roar of the released flood has struck the natives with fear and awe.

"The sudden storm came at the moment of our greatest need. What a tremendous disappointment it would have been if the entire countryside had been flooded after all our work and expense on these six cuttings!"

The director and his assistants, in making their rounds of inspection during the season of cloudbursts when ordinarily it is considered too dangerous to travel the roads of the loess region owing to the frequent freshets and small landslips, have met with several perilous adventures. In one case Mr. Andrews' mule slipped over the side of a gully and dropped twenty feet, catching up in a cleft of earth formed in the side of the gully, part of which was preparing to break away. Men with shovels were procured, and after three quarters of an hour of digging into the side of the bank the mule was exposed. She fell another thirty feet sheer to the bottom of the gully, but after being led about for a short time appeared to have escaped without as much as a sprain.

CLASH FOR POSITION

Peking, September 4.—There is a fight in progress between Tien Ying-chuon and Tsao Ping-lung for the job of civil governor of Shansi. Governor Yen, who up to the present time has held concurrently the positions of Tuchun and Civil Governor of Shansi, has resigned from the former job, because he is eager to support the self-government movement that is sweeping through the provinces. Tien and Tsao are coming and going between Shansi and Peking, pulling all the strings they can to get the new position.

JAPANESE WANT SHANTUNG GRAIN, CHINESE OBJECT

Peking, September 4.—The desire of Japanese merchants in Shantung to purchase 200,000 tons of Shantung wheat for exportation to Japan by way of Tsingtao is stirring up excitement among Shantung gentry and merchants, according to a telegram received by the Central Government today from the Shantung Provincial Assembly.

In 1919 Japanese grain dealers in Shantung received authority to purchase wheat in the province for exportation to Japan, and they base their claim to do so this year on the precedent established in 1919. The Provincial Assembly points out to the Central Government, however, that conditions in 1919 were such as to warrant the sale of large quantities of grains for export purposes, whereas this year, as a result of the famine last Winter and the heavy floods this Summer, Shantung cannot afford to let one bushel of grain leave its limits.

The Assembly, has, accordingly, requested the Government to instruct the Shantung Governor to prohibit the sale of grain in the province for export purposes.

While the matter has not yet come before the Cabinet for final decision, it is believed here that Peking will instruct the Governor of Shantung to act in accordance with the desires of his Provincial Assembly and people.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, September 4.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission has authorised reductions in railway rates for grain from Middle Western to Eastern States, up to 4½ cents per 100 lbs.

KANSU FLOODS ARE WORST IN HALF CENTURY

Peking, September 4.—Floods in Kansu are worse this year than any that have visited that province in 50 years, according to official telegrams received here by the Central Government. Large areas in various parts of the province are stated to be under water, with a resulting heavy damage to crops. Unnumbered hundreds of people are said to have been drowned, and the outlook for the future is gloomy.

The Kansu authorities have, therefore, requested Peking to send them immediate relief funds and suggest that the surplus proceeds of the railway and telegraph famine surcharges be made free for this purpose.

Peking has the request of the Kansu authorities under consideration now, and it is considered probable that a certain measure of relief will be given to the flood sufferers on the understanding that the provincial authorities will raise the balance of the relief funds required locally.

U.S. COTTON CROP IS HARD HIT BY THE BOLL WEEVIL

(Reuter's Service)

New York, August 12.—There is practically no improvement in the cotton crop situation. There is still a lot of discussion about how the Government Bureau found conditions so much lower than any of the private reports, but few traders dispute the fact that since the report was issued on August 1 the crop has gone backward, under the influence of hot, dry weather in the southwest and almost continuous rains in the eastern belt up to the last day or two, when clearing weather appeared. Nearly all private crop advices take a gloomy view of the crop situation.

In South Carolina, it is said, severe damage has been done by boll weevil and in some sections almost the entire crop has been destroyed by them. From one part of the state it was said as only one half the fertilisers used last year was being used this season, the plants were yellow and sickly looking, with little fruit.

The new crop seems to be moving in Texas with considerable freedom, and there is some movement in the lower part of Alabama and Georgia. Japanese interests are credited with being the principal buyers of the new crop, notably in Texas. They are keen for high grade white short cotton, and are taking this in a rather large way. Liverpool interests are credited with buying also, but they are confining their purchases principally to the medium and lower grades of rivers and benders.

Northern and Southern mills are reported to be taking considerable quantities of old-crop offerings, while Germany is likewise credited with pretty large purchases. A prominent exporter at Memphis said that Germany will buy almost any grade or description of cotton on which it can secure satisfactory terms.

A New Orleans firm points out that for the first five days of the new cotton year the movement to market was 85,000 bales, against 20,000 last year, but exports from the United States were 72,000 against 17,000 and spinners of the world took 206,000 bales compared with 151,000 a year ago.

Cotton goods trading has continued very steady, and there is more activity in yarns than local merchants have reported for a long time. Local yarn merchants say Southern spinners have declined large quantities of business at old prices. In the Boston market consumers have gained rapidly and already have shown a willingness to contract ahead, sometimes for as much as three months, a proceeding which was seldom thought of a month ago.

There seems little doubt but that business in goods and yarns has been of greater volume during the past sixty days than for the preceding twelve months. All this is considered very important by commission houses who believe that in view of the probability of a small crop this year and perhaps next, prices are headed for very much higher levels later in the year.

Korean Budget Is Raised By Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, September 2.—The draft of the Budget Estimates for Korea for the new fiscal year has been submitted to the financial authorities for review. The total expenditure—about ¥.170,000,000—is an increase of some ten million yen as compared with the returns for the preceding fiscal year. The increased expenditure is principally to be devoted to educational enterprises.

As a consequence of depressed business conditions in Korea, the budget anticipates a marked decrease in revenue from business and other taxes. The expected deficit will be met by increased subsidies from the General Account of the Central Government.

MANY PROTESTS RAISED BY THE FISHING SCHEME

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, September 4.—Prominent men in Peking have issued a letter of protest to the Premier, protesting against the company that is said to have been formed for the purpose of developing the fishtries of the coastal provinces by the Department of the Navy, and financed by Japanese money. This is the report that comes from Chinese sources.

A protest comes also from the Chihli Provincial Assembly protesting against the same thing. Both groups base their protests upon the ground that the company has already been formed, that Japanese money is supporting it and that the officials of the Navy Department from the Minister down have received bribes. They say that the desire is to use the money for the payment of the arrears of salary of the navy men, and that this should be done by application to the Department of Finance, and not by independent loans. It is said that the protest of the Chihli provincial Assembly is the seventh that has been received, the other protests coming from six other provinces, Kwangtung, Fukien, Chekiang, Kiangsu, Shantung and Fengtien.

Among the prominent men who signed the protest from Peking is Kao Chun-hsu, the former minister of agriculture.

GERMOL FOR THE HAIR

What It Is

'GERMOL' is the result of many years patient investigation by Specialists. It has a single object—The Treatment of the Hair. It has wonderful properties for killing the germs of Dandruff, and so destructive to hair growth and beauty. By the special process discovered by the proprietors 'GERMOL' treats the diseased and debilitated hair roots and sacs. 'GERMOL' is a beautifully crystalclear preparation; very pleasant to use, and non-greasy. It is totally unlike any other hair preparation.

What It Does

By killing the germs 'GERMOL' allows the hair to grow naturally. By its special 'feeding' properties it gives wonderful, new and vigorous life to the hair roots, making the hair grow luxuriantly, and restoring its youthful beauty. It will produce that healthy hair which always has the sheen so much desired by men and women careful of their appearance. It kills the Dandruff producing germs. Remember that neglected Dandruff always causes falling hair. Unless properly treated falling hair always ends in baldness. You can't have Dandruff if you use 'GERMOL'—it will remove it in three days.

BASEBALL CLUB PLAYS S.C.C. SUNDAY

Same Teams To Meet At Cricket Within The Week

HONG GAMES ON

Anderson Meyer Meets Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha Today

Shanghai baseballers and Shanghai cricketers will begin a mixed series of baseball and cricket on Sunday at the baseball park, with Capt. Cy Wilhoit's men opposing the best ball players that the cricket clubs of the city can produce. The game will be followed later by a cricket match to be staged on the field of the Shanghai Cricket Club.

For the baseball game on Sunday the baseball club will loan the cricketers a battery. Capt. Wilhoit yesterday offered the cricketers their choice of box and back stop talent. Merrill and Roeser, as a result, will likely work for the British. The cricket men, in return, will provide one or more bowlers and a wicket-keeper to work for the baseball club in the cricket match.

No official lineup for Sunday's game has as yet been announced, but the S. C. C. and the Recs both have a number of members who have played baseball and played it well. They can put a good team on the field. Capt. Barrett, Leach, Clifford, F. Ollerdessen, Brook, Leslie and Wilson all are mentioned as most prominent among the possibilities. And there are others, particularly, the younger members of the Recs, who might get into the game. Harry Ollerdessen, a former player on the Shanghai baseball team will not play Sunday because of the approaching tennis championships.

The names mentioned however are mere possibilities. Cricket supporters promise a surprise in the strength of the British team. They say that the cricket clubs have several young Canadian members available to play, and that these British-Americans can play the game as well as regular Americans.

This afternoon a Hong League game will be staged with the Anderson Meyer company meeting the Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha nine commencing at 5 o'clock. The Shanghai team will also be out in full force for practice for Sunday's game. They may also bring out a few cricket bats, and try to hit them on the bounce, as they do in cricket, in preparation for the cricket match next week.

Saturday it is hoped the Shanghai team may be matched with some strong team. There is a possibility now that the cruiser New Orleans, which is reported out of Vladivostok enroute south, will reach here in time for the date. The New Orleans has a nice little team and would fill Saturday's program to a nicety. The Anderson Meyer hong and the American Trading Co. also will play on Saturday, perhaps as the second half of a double header. It is hoped also to stage a Hong League Sunday after the game with the

McGraw Suspended For Abusing Klem

Pittsburg, July 27.—John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, has been suspended indefinitely by President John A. Heydler, according to Umpire Klem, for using alleged abusive language toward Klem during Tuesday's game here. Johnny Rawlings of the Giants, charged with the same offense, was fined $50, Klem said.

McGraw denied he used abusive language toward the umpire at any time during the game or afterward. Newspaper men traveling with the Giants said players of both the New York and Pittsburg teams gathered around Umpires Klem and Emslie under the stands after the game and words were exchanged.

Fetherstonhaugh Ill; May Not Be Able To Defend His Title

The South China Morning Post of the 30th ult. has the following note regarding the selection committee who are to select the Hongkong team for the coming 'interport' between the Crown Colony and the Model Settlement:

"With the view to selecting the swimmers to represent Hongkong in the forthcoming interport Swimming Contests, the following Selection Committee has been appointed—Messrs. J. C. Finch (Royals), R. J. Wilton (unattached), Master Gunner May (Army), Lt. Milbourne (Navy), with the addition of the Bath House Committee of the V. R. C. consisting of Messrs. E. Busschaert, A. Alves, G. W. Sewell, Capt. Wheeler, Messrs. G. A. Carvalho, J. Evans, A. Silva Netto, J. Johnstone, R. C. Witchell.

A series of trials, which are open to the public, will take place at the V. R. C. before the final selection is made."

S. I. S. C. GALA

Preparations are now all but completed for the annual swimming gala and aquatic sports of the Shanghai International Swimming Club which is set down to take place next Friday and Saturday, the 9th and 10th inst. at the Municipal Bath at the extreme end of the North Szechuen Road Extension, and records are anticipated, not merely in the times for the 100 yards and 440 yards championships but also in the attendance on both nights. For example, no less than 130 tickets have been taken in the Ladies' Sweepstake Handicap, and it has been no small task to make the drawing for same, which took place last night at the usual Tuesday night practice of the S. I. S. C. It had originally been intended to hold some of the preliminary heats last night, but as the early start each evening (9 p.m. sharp) will allow of the full program being got through, it was decided to hold both preliminaries and finals at the gala itself.

The 100 yards championship which all the attention of local swimming fans is focussed promises to be a fine race, one of the best ever seen over the distance in Shanghai. Last night Siemssen unpaced did 63 secs. and 1-5, the time clocked by Fetherstonhaugh in the championship of the Rowing Club, and Mears is said to be good for 62 secs. so it ought to be a ding-dong finish between all three speeders.

FETHERSTONHAUGH ILL

The report was current last night that Fetherstonhaugh might be precluded from entering to defend his title owing to illness, and the wishes of all local followers of the sport are that he will be fit and well by Saturday night, for if extended Fether is capable of great things over the 100 yards course.

Only three have entered for the Throwing the Polo Ball Championship of Shanghai, MacCabe (the holder), L. Goldman and Berthet, who has recently returned from his vacation up North. Goldman is credited with some mighty heaves, in the 70 feet class, and if he duplicates those on Friday he ought to win.

The Rowing Club will be strengthened by the return of Berthet, in the water polo game on Saturday night, and in the team race it has been decided, owing to the difficulty of the Rowing Club raising seven or eight men (as originaly planned for the relay race), to swim five a side, but each man has to swim two lengths instead of one.

For the Quarter Mile, Siemssen, Remedios, Tordy, Brown and Brodie are down to take part.

If the sale of tickets exceeds before Friday evening the capacity of the Bath building it may be that no tickets will be sold at the door: so it is advisable for all who intend being present to purchase tickets beforehand, and then to be down at the Bath at least by 9 p.m.

AUSSIES ASSUME BIG LEAD OVER SOUTH ENGLAND

Close First Innings With 444 As Against Homesters 199

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 5.—The match between the Australians and a South of England eleven was resumed at Hastings today in sunny weather. The Australians' first innings (which was not completed on Saturday, as previously telegraphed) closed for 444. Armstrong carried his bat for 182, made in four hours and 10 minutes. His innings was marked by some splendid driving, and he hit 21 boundaries, while he only gave one chance, viz., when his score was 24.

The Englishmen were dismissed in their first innings for 199, to which Hubert Ashton, one of the Cambridge University brothers, contributed 65 without giving a chance. Gregory took five wickets for 77. Compelled to follow on, the South of England eleven lost two wickets for 15 runs before stumps were drawn.

In the concluding match of the county season, Notts beat Worcestershire at Nottingham by an innings and 65.

Many Entries Are Filed For S'hai Rifle Championships

Entries for the important Shanghai Championship "British .303 Rifle" competition which will take place on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, 10, 11 and 12 inst., closed yesterday; 35 entries were received. The competition will be shot this year under the same conditions as the King's Prize at Bisley 1921.

The first stage will be 200, 500 and 600 yards, seven scoring shots at each distance. The second stage 300, 600 yards, 10 scoring shots at each distance and only the 24 best scores in the first stage will be qualified to shoot. The final stage will be 900 and 1,000 yards, 15 scoring shots at each distance and is open only to the 12 best scores in the second stage.

In the previous years at each distance a competitor is allowed to fire one sighter and two practice shots. The conditions this year will be very difficult and the score will be "probable" 20 percent less. There will be no sighter nor practice shots. The first shot fired is a counting shot.

As the time will be strictly adhered to, competitors are advised to be at the firing point (200 yards hut) at least 15 minutes before the competition. Competitors will draw for mounds and they will be squadded as fololws: Target No. 1—4 men, No. 2—3 men, No. 3—4 men, No. 4—3 men, No. 5—4 men, No. 6—3 men, No. 7—4 men, No. 8—3 men, No. 9—4 men and No. 10—3 men.

Following are the names of the entrants:

G. Archer, C. Bedoni, E. I. M. Barrett, R. G. H. Cole, A. M. Collaco, J. S. Chen, A. E. Collins, O. Erzinger, Y. S. Fong, F. G. Green, C. G. Hoh, F. E. Hodges, R. I. Ito, M. I. Ijima, O. L. S.R.A. vs. LONDON

The following gentlemen forming the Shanghai team (winner) against the City Rifle Club of London are kindly requested to be present at the Rifle Range on Sunday at 5:30 p.m. to receive the spoons sent by the City Rifle Club, which were received by Mr. A. M. Collaco (Secretary) yesterday.

Messrs. R. K. Hykes, M G. Brawley, W. R. Sauer, O. L. Ilbert, F. G. Green, G. M. Neal, R. I. Ito, L. J. Hughes, W. T. Rose and H. W. Lambert.

Babe Ruth Gets His 50th Homer

Babe Ruth turned the half century mark in the matter of home runs clouted this year, when on Saturday in the final game of the series against Washington he made the circuit again driving two men home ahead of him.

The scoring of the fiftieth homer puts Ruth within four of his last season's record and within five of establishing a new mark for four base hits.

Sixteen playing days are left in the Yankees' schedule in which the Big Babe must get his five homers.

Ruth this year is 21 days ahead of his pace for 1920. He rounded the 50 mark last year on Sept. 24. He is six homers ahead of the same date of 1920. He promises at his present gait to total 63 for the season.

Shooting Chattre

People are showing little disposition to spot the winner in the forthcoming Shanghai Championship with the British .303 Rifle. All the "A1" and "A" classes and a couple of "B" class shots of the S.R.A. have to receive careful consideration.

Many fancy Ito, winner of last year Gold Cross, backing up their opinion by pointing out to excellent scores turned in of late. There are Sauer, Collaco, Capt. Barrett, three "veteran" crack shots and doing well recently. C. E. M. Thomson, C. Bedoni, O. Ilbert, P. W. Snape, and Y. Waung are still other touted as contenders. The last named is a new shot and is scoring so heavily. Rose and Thomson are doing excellent in their training at the long ranges (900 and 1,000 yards). With the luck breaking right for them to be qualified for the final stage they may step into the high gun position. It will readily be seen that the match is not going to be a walk-away for anyone and reliable prognostication will be practically non-existent until the 900 and 1,000 yards ranges have been reached.

The highest possible score for the competition is 355 points, but without sighters and practice shots, there is every reason to believe, if the present weather conditions continue, that a total of 312 or thereabouts will carry the honor.

For the spectators' viewpoint the best time to visit the range will be next Sunday at about 4:30 p.m. when the 24 best scorers will battle for the qualification in the final stage.

DOWNEY DEFEATS WILSON, CHAMP OF MIDDLEWEIGHTS

Wins On Points In Jersey City Settling Disputed Right To Title

EACH CLAIMED THE CROWN

In Last Encounter Authorities Awarded Decisions To Both Men

(Reuter's Service)

Jersey City, Sept. 5.—In a boxing contest for the middle-weight championship of the world, Bryan Downey defeated Johnny Wilson, the holder, on points.

Downey and Wilson met once before in Cleveland on July 27, and the fight resulted in such a uncertain mixture of opinion and decisions that it was difficult to say just who was the winner. The referee proclaimed Wilson the winner on a foul but the other experts and the members of the Ohio State Boxing Commission at the ringside decided that Downey had won by a knockout. The ruling of the referee however stood and Wilson retained his title until the bout at Jersey City.

In the cleveland fight Downey swung a terrific right cross that caught Wilson fairly and sent him to the floor in the seventh round. He hardly got to his feet when Downey downed him twice again in quick succession. Wilson on the third knock down was out. The referee declared him the winner on a foul. The chairman of the state boxing commission announced Downey the winner by a knockout.

Downey has been middleweight champion in the state of Ohio since that bout of July 27. Now he is middleweight champion of the world.

The Portuguese club is still leading with a comfortable margin; the Recs are in safe possession of second position, and the other clubs are in positions that will likely constitute the final standings.

The Recs are still within striking distance of the leading Portuguese and by winning four out of five matches Friday may tie the leaders. A clean sweep of five will give them the tournament. Such a score however is not anticipated by tennis enthusiasts. It is even expected that the Portuguese club will

WIRTH TO FIGHT AGAINST WRECK OF THE REPUBLIC

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 5.—The French press gives prominence to reports of the successful demonstration organised by the Center Party in Berlin in honor of Herr Erzberger and the speech of the Chancellor, Dr. Wirth, on that occasion.

Dr. Wirth recalled the part played by Herr Erzberger in the armistice negotiations, not of his own accord but at the request of the then Chancellor, Prince Max of Baden.

The German Government, Dr. Wirth continued, would take all necessary measures to prevent the reactionary party continuing its work of destruction. The Chancellor blamed the Bavarian authorities for having permitted the issue of certain prohibited publications and the placarding of insulting posters, but added that he hoped in the course of the present week to settle in a friendly manner the pending questions between the Imperial and Bavarian Governments.

Dr. Wirth affirmed his intention to fight for German democracy and emphasised the danger, from the political point of view, raised by the schemes for a restoration of the monarchy. The Chancellor paid a tribute to Herr Rathenau, Minister of Reconstruction, who, he said, had rendered greater services to the German people up to the present than the entire Assembly put together.

In a speech at Magdeburg, Herr Stresemann, leader of the German People's Party, did not attempt to conceal the fact that his party desired the return of the monarchy, but only provided the majority of the German people formally expressed such a desire. Herr Stresemann protested against the attitude of the German nationalists who demanded that the terms of the Allied ultimatum which had been accepted by Germany should not be carried out.

Reports from Munich state that at a meeting of German nationalists there the leaders of the Heiferich party, amongst others, delivered utterances threatening the Imperial Government.

The Socialist parties are discussing measures for assisting the Government in the event of the abolition of martial law in Bavaria not being agreed to, and in order to force the hand of the Bavarian Government they have decided to stop the despatch of coal from the Ruhr basin to Bavaria.

ANHWEI FOLK DO NOT WANT LI FOR CIVIL GOVERNOR

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 31.—The Anhwei Provincial Club in Peking at a meeting on August 28 decided to send a delegation to the Premier to protest against the appointment of Mr. Li Chow-chen as Civil Governor of Anhwei, and to petition that he should be replaced by a younger man on the ground that he is physically unfit for his post.

After the meeting four delegates, including General Chiang Chao-tsung, waited upon the Premier yesterday morning to lay their case before him. The Premier received the delegation and explained the position fully to them, stating that there had been a divergence of views between the Cabinet and the President with regard to the appointment, but that Mr. Li Chow-chen had been chosen for the post to reconcile the conflicting views. General Chiang Chao-tsung and the other members of the Anhwei delegation, however, would not accept the Premier's explanation, and they left unsatisfied.

In order to ensure complete superintendence of the fishing enterprises, five vessels, ranging between 50 tons and 30 tons, have been constructed, and will go into service next fishing season.

Japanese Prince Returns; Given Royal Welcome

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, September 3.—The Katori, with the Crown Prince of Japan on board, and the escorting squadrons, anchored at Yokohama last night. This morning the representatives of the Emperor and Empress, the Imperial Princes, including Prince Hirohito's two brothers, Princes Yasuhito and Nobuhito, members of the Cabinet, Admirals of the Fleet, including Admiral Count Togo and Field Marshals proceeded on board the Katori and formally welcomed the Crown Prince.

The Premier proposing his Imperial Highness's health called for three banzais for the heir to the Throne. There was a deafening accompaniment of warships saluting and merchantmen whistling, while aeroplanes circled overhead. The weather was perfect.

Proceeding by train to Tokio, the Crown Prince was the recipient of a second official welcome at Tokio railway station, where some three thousand persons had gathered, including Prince Fushimi, the Imperial Princesses, the Genro, members of the Diplomatic Corps, Baron Goto, Mayor of Tokio, and a host of officials.

On alighting, the Prince first greeted the members of the Imperial family, and then shook hands and cordially conversed with Sir Charles Eliot, the British Ambassador, and other representatives of the European Powers.

After inspecting the guard of honor, the Prince drove through the gaily decorated streets to the Palace. The thousands of townspeople and countryfolk who lined the route discarded the customary attitude of silence in the presence of members of the Imperial family and vociferously banzaied as the procession passed, the Prince repeatedly saluting and bowing his acknowledgments. Another precedent was broken by the press photographers and cinema-men, who were ubiquitous in their efforts to take the Prince.

The change in the Crown Prince's appearance since he left Japan—his alert, self-possessed, democratic demeanour—was much commented upon.

The vernacular newspapers this morning came out with special editions in honor of the occasion. They say that the tour has taught Japanese at home the real personality of their Prince, and has had the effect of breaking down the traditional barriers between the Imperial family and the people, while the view is expressed that the marks of courtesy and repect shown to the Prince abroad are bound to lead to a fuller understanding of Japan and her people. Viscount Kato, leader of the Kenseikai, in a message to one journal writes, "Prince Hirohito has done what no other Japanese could do in furthering friendly relations with the powers."

Thirty thousand persons carrying lanterns and flags this evening paraded from the City Hall to the Palace where they cheered the Crown Prince, who, with his two brothers, appeared on the verandah and saluted the crowds. That such a democratic demonstration should have been allowed to enter the Palace grounds was a break with all precedent.

The Crown Prince, through the Premier, has issued a message to the Japanese nation, in which he expresses the gratitude of himself and the nation for the courtesies and hospitality extended to him by the sovereigns and peoples of Europe, and his appreciation of the opportunities which he has been afforded of studying post-war conditions and of meeting distinguished people of all spheres. The Prince calls on the nation to apply themselves to the promotion of national prosperity and to the adoption of the good example of other nations, neglecting no endeavors to make contributions to the advancement of world civilisation.

Tomorrow Prince Hirohito will visit the Emperor and Empress at Nikko. On Sept. 8 he will attend the welcome celebration in Tokio and later will proceed to the Imperial shrines of Ise, Momoyama and Unebi, returning to the capital on Sept. 15.

GOES TO REPORT

Tokio, September 4.—After celebrating until a late hour last night, Tokio again demonstrated its joy at Crown Prince Hirohito's return and its pride in his achievements when His Imperial Highness left this morning for Nikko, where he will report to the Emperor and Empress, returning to Tokio on Wednesday next.

Wu Pei-fu Calls For Unity Before Pacific Conference

(Staff Correspondence)

Peking, August 31.—Wu Pei-fu has issued his recommendations for the calling of a National Convention which he suggests be held at Lushan (near Kuling, in Chekiang) before "the holding of the Pacific Conference in Washington," and he has outlined the principles which, according to his way of thinking, should guide the deliberations of the National Conference. Wu's circular telegram follows:

CIRCULAR TELEGRAM

Since the Hunan-Hupeh war arose the country has been filled with consternation and excitement and the hope of unification has been rendered very remote, and all the attention of the friendly Powers has been concentrated upon this country. Our soldiers, who are guardians of the country and peace, have suddenly become puppets while the lives and property of the four million people have become pawns in the political game. Who is responsible for all this?

Since the constitution was thrown away, North and South have been fighting each other, neither being willing to yield. The North says that if unification is effected it must be effected through the Peking Government while the South contends that it alone has the authority to introduce reforms When the South accuses the North of having violated the constitution, the North replied that the South is intentionally obstructing the North in its effort to effect unification

NO COMPROMISE SIGN

While both sides are engaged in mutual recriminations, neither has shown signs of compromise. If the North claims that it alone should have the right to effect unification its claim appears to be too despotic. On the other hand the Southern contention that reforms should be instituted in accordance with its wishes savors of something too arbitrary. While each is claiming that it represents the country, the fact, that in insisting upon their own standpoints, both sides are ignoring the opinion of the people is overlooked by the leaders on both sides. They are therefore both obstacles to peace. The people are poor and bankruptcy stares the country in the face. The Pacific Conference is close at hand, but the measures to be taken toward it have not yet been formulated. If the people are content to see their country disappear from the earth, I have nothing more to say to them.

But if they wish to save their country from its present troubles, it is imperative for the authorities to discard their political difference and give the people and the soldiers a chance to exercise their right of self-determination. The people and the soldiers should make a determined effort to stop all political strife, and devote themselves at once to finding a means of exercising their right of self-determination. They should follow the example set by the thirteen colonies of America and call a convention at Lushan to discuss all the questions in dispute, with a view to putting a stop to the present fighting and opening a new era in the history of the reconstruction of this country. But as the matter is a very important one, it is essential to the success of the convention that certain definite principles should be established so that its designations may not become mere scraps of paper. I therefore have the liberty to suggest the following:

CONVENTION PLANS

(1) The Convention shall be known as the Lushan National Convention. (2) The decisions of the convention shall be inviolable. (3) The Convention shall be divided into two sections one called the People's Conference and the other, the National troops' Conference. The People's Conference shall be formed by the legislatures and public bodies of the various provinces, which shall be entitled to send three delegates each, these to be given credentials by these bodies. Mongolia, Tibet and Ching Hai are also allowed to send one delegate each. The object of the Conference is to solve all legal questions, to work out the details for forming a central government to determine the powers of the Central and the local governments; and to amend the national constitution where it shall prove necessary to do so.

The national troops' Conference shall be composed of the delegates of the army and navy. Each provincial military area shall be entitled to send three delegates, who shall be given credentials by the military officers of the said area, but in those areas where there is an inspector-general, the credentials shall be issued by the inspector-general.

There shall be only one naval delegate and he shall be selected by the whole navy, and shall bear credentials issued by the commander-in-chief of the fleet. All the divisions and brigades under the direct control of the Central Government shall be entitled to send six delegates, whose credentials shall be issued by the Ministry of War. The Conference shall discuss such questions as the size of the Chinese army, troop disbandment and regulations governing the employment and discharge of soldiers and officers. (4) The decisions of the National Troops' Conference, must be approved by the People's Conference. In case the latter conference votes a decision, the former may reaffirm it by giving reasons, but should it be rejected the second time, it must be amended. (5) The National Troops' Conference shall appoint a person who shall use the national troops to safeguard the dignity of the two conferences and insure the execution of their decisions, but who shall have not right to interfere with their deliberations. The name of the office and its duties shall be determined by the conference and its tenure shall not expire until the establishment of a united government. (6) In view of the world situation, the convention shall be called before the assembling of the Pacific Conference. (7) The decisions of both the People's conference and the National Troops Conference shall be promulgated by the former conference. (8) The delegates to the Pacific Conference shall be chosen by the People's Conference. (9) The Convention shall be held when the approval of the majority of the provinces have been secured. (10) The rules governing the precedure of the Convention shall be promulgated when approved by a majority of the delegates to the Convention. (11) The expenses of the Convention shall be borne by the various provinces. (12) The officials of the locality where the convention is to the held shall be entrusted with all arrangements of the convention. (13) If found necessary, these regulations may be amended after the convention has been held. (14) Those principles, after passed by the convention, shall be considered its legal resolutions.

What I have said represents my personal opinion, but at a time when the life of the country hangs by a thread, I see no means of other than this for the salvation of this country and people. It is sincerely hoped that my fellowmen will give me the benefit of their opinions upon these suggestions.

PROTEST JAPAN'S OCCUPATION OF NEUTRAL ZONE

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, Aug. 26.—It is reported from Iman that four Japanese cavalry units are going to Evgenievka. They are equipped with machine-guns and in each of them there is a number of Russian reactionaries. The Semenoffists are gathering around Nikolsk-Ussurisk and the Kappelists around the Suchan coal-mines.

The Russian Command has lodged a protest with the Japanese Command against its occupation of the neutral zone and the immediate neighborhood of the Far Eastern Republic forces, stating that this violation of the agreement of April 29, 1920, tends to provoke an open conflict with the forces of the Far Eastern Republic.

The Russian Command adds that in the event of further invasion of the districts occupied by the Far Eastern Republic forces by the Japanese, an armed resistance will be offered.

Business and Official Notices

Customs Notification
No. 976.

With reference to Customs Notifications Nos. 929 and 951.

Duty on Chinese tea of all varieties, shipped abroad, is remitted for a period of 2 years from 10th Oct., 1919:

I have to notify the public that, in accordance with instructions received from the Inspector General of Customs, the following rules are to be given effect to as from the 15th August, 1921 with regard to the export of tea:

(1) The period of exemption of all kinds of Chinese tea exported abroad from Maritime Customs duties and half exemption from inland duties is extended for a further period of one year from the 10th October, 1921. Further extension for a period of one year will be applied for in May or June next year.

(2) During the above period of exemption no Maritime or Native Customs duties or inland taxes shall be levied on 1918 and 1919 teas of all kinds (originally intended for export abroad) in stock at Shanghai, Hankow, etc., whether exported abroad, or sent coastwise or inland. When such tea is reported for sale in the interior covering huchao shall be issued by the Superintendent of Customs at Shanghai, Hankow, etc., to facilitate its examination and release en route.

(3) All bonds (or deposits) for 1918 and 1919 teas of all kinds (originally intended for export abroad), now held by the various Maritime and Native Customs are to be cancelled (or returned) but as regards teas of 1920 or later years with the exception laid down in Rule 4, bonds or deposits now held remain in force and continue to be required in future. (N.B.) The term "1918 and 1919 teas" is to be interpreted to mean "teas passed through the Maritime Customs before 1st January, 1920 (i.e. including pre-1918 teas) still in stock and under Customs control."

(4) Black tea and brick and tablet tea of 1920 and later years (i.e. up to 9th October, 1922) whether originally covered by bond or not are to be free also from domestic export and coast trade duties when exported coastwise before 10th October, 1922. They will before that date only be liable to half Native Customs duties as in the case of teas exported abroad. No bond or Native Customs half duty deposit is necessary for these teas and any bonds or Native Customs half duty deposits now held should be cancelled or refunded. If sent inland from another port they will be liable to the usual inland charges.

(5) All bonds, re-exportation passes, and repack permits, issued before 10th October, 1922, which are not cancelled under the above rules hold good to 9th October, 1923. All bonds, etc., issued on or after 10th October, 1922 to hold good for one year only.

(6) Teas which are not exported abroad within the period of exemption will not, even though covered by bonds, etc., be entitled to exemption but only to re-export privileges up to the date on which the bonds expire.

Merchants are requested to apply for the cancellation of bonds or return of deposits as laid down in Rules 3 and 4 so that, in the case of pre-1920 teas, the consignments can be identified and Special Exemption Certificates or Superintendent's huchao issued if moved coastwise or inland before 10th October, 1922 (vide Rule 2).

NOTICE

China exports every year vast quantities of Kashmir, Thibetan wool, camel's wool, Kansu and Manchurian sheep's wool, and goat's wool. On the other hand China imports every year almost every woollen article such as woollen yarns, blankets, rugs, carpets, woollen underwear cloth, etc.

Labour is cheap in China and yet there is not one woollen mill in operation.

We have complete specifications and estimates for a woollen mill able to turn out, yarn, blankets, rugs, carpets, woollen underwear, cloth, etc. We have also an engineer on the spot. We shall be glad to give particulars to interested parties. Only those able to command or obtain the capital necessary for such an enterprise need apply to Box 687, THE CHINA PRESS.

Catalogued for sale—1,210,441 lbs. (about 540 tons).

Offered—1,117,255 lbs. (about 499 tons).

Sold—918,602 lbs. (about 410 tons).

The tone of the London market remained fairly steady during the past week. The inactivity in the local market, however, still continues and only a small amount of business has been done.

Cables were received this morning advising the market slightly easier.

The auction opened to a fair attendance, but prices realised show for most grades a decline on the week. There was, however, a good demand at the lower level.

540 tons were catalogued, and 410 tons sold out of the 499 offered.

Awarded Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet sold at 26½ cents, which is ½ cent down, two lots in cases were sold at 27 cents.

Sheet equal to Standard was in good demand at 26 cents.

Off Quality Sheet found ready buyers.

Awarded Standard 1st Latex fetched 27½ cents; some buyers, however, withdrew their lots when bid this price.

Crepe equal to Standard declined about 1 cent, although one lot fetched 28 cents in the morning. This grade and Off Color Latex were shown a fair interest.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were well competed for at prices practically unchanged on the week.

N.B.—The above prices for Standard Quality Sheet and Crepe are only paid for small lots at the auctions, whereas bigger quantities in the outside market generally fetch from 1 cent to 1½ above these figures.

MARCH OF EVENTS

BY BRUCE HOPPER

ARE the Moplahs of southern India setting off the first gun in the long heralded Holy War of Islam against all non-believers?

Opinions are diverse as to the significance of the outbreak. If Gandhi, the Nationalist leader of India, inspired the rebellion in the hope of putting the torch to British dominion the attempt is a signal failure. Hindus and British have been attacked indiscriminately, and 300 Hindus are reported as forcibly converted to Islam.

British policy in India since the adoption of the Montagu report has been to grant an increasing amount of self-government to the natives. A Chamber of Princes has been inaugurated, which promises a prestige and voice in governmental affairs to native rulers. Lord Reading has announced his program to win back confidence in British justice, and introduce legislation which will permit a maximum development of native industries.

But travelers from Moslem countries are inclined to interpret the Moplah outbreak as the advance spark of the next convulsion in the Pan-Islamic movement, rather than something co-ordinated with the political aspiration of the Gandhists or the non-cooperation movement of the students. The pressure of Europe upon the Moslem world has been increasing, and the mandates laid down in the Versailles Treaty have tightened the hold of the Powers. European conquerors show no inclination to relax that grip.

JUNE 16, 1922, will be the thirteenth centennial of the Hegira. Translation of the stirring pamphlets circulated in the Near East contain the startling revelation that the fourteenth century of the Mohammedan era is hailed as the time of revenge. It is prophesied that the sons of the prophet will hurl the white conquerors back to their European strongholds, and the sway of the Caliphs will extend to the limits of the empires of the Omayyads of Damascus, the Abbasids of Bagdad, and the western Caliphs of Cordova.

Germany induced her ally, the Sultan of Turkey, to call a jehad at the beginning of the war. The Arabs recognised the Potsdam signature to the decree, and refused to respond. Their jehad, when it comes, will be to re-establish the sovereignty of Islam and not to fight battles for non-believers.

Recent high-handed acts of the Powers have aroused the feelings to the Moslem world to frenzy, the Anglo-French agreement to assume rights in Egypt and Morocco for instance, and Italy's seizure of Tripoli in 1912. Nor can the Moslems accept with tranquility the mandates of Syria to France, Palestine and Mesopotamia to Britain, and the assigning of parts of Turkey to Greece. Turkey has not been a popular leader of Islam, but the prevalent demand is that Moslem territory shall remain Moslem.

EVERYWHERE there is unrest and resentment. Everywhere there are nationalist movements. Everywhere the Moslems are becoming more and more insolent to the whites who govern, and the whites who travel for commercial or tourist purposes. Militant Islam once spread like a hungry flame across Africa to Spain and the Pyrennees; in the other direction it knocked at the gates of Vienna. That flame has been rekindled.

While white races have been exhausted by the great war, and pray for complete cessation of further conflict, the Moslems are astir on all frontiers. The consciousness of sovereignty and race, and the realisation of the present aversion of the white races to war, is seen in the yeast of self-determination which now animates Islam. In the mosques and bazaars of Damascus and Cairo fiery sheiks meet and speak with flashing eyes of the coming hour.

In Mecca every year the gathering of the pilgrims has taken the nature of a Pan-Islamic congress, less religious, and more political. The helplessness of the Turkish Sultan, a puppet of the Allies, has raised the cry for a transfer of the Caliphate from Constantinople to the Kingdom of Hedjaz.

In the demand for the transfer of the Caliphate the Shiite sect of Persia and the Sunnites of Arabia seem united as never before since the days of Ali and Fatima. A united Islam is as much a menace to Christendom now as when Roderick, the last of the Visigoths in Spain, heard the battle cries of Tarik's Berbers and furious Arabs. Fire and sword in the name of the prophet is still the proselyting argument of the Moslems, and if they settle their own rivalries the white race may tremble for its dominion in the Near and Middle East.

LACK of cohesion has been the self-destructive element of Moslem movements in the past few centuries. If the Madhist cyclone had been organised the European Powers might never have retained foothold in northern Africa. But present activities indicate a greater co-ordination of effort. Col. Laurence proved that the wildest of Arab tribes were capable of uniting for a combined military campaign.

The Moslem pot is boiling. The Afghans have broken their truce with Britain, the Turks are fighting desperately against the Greeks, and Syria is a volcano over which an armed truce hovers like a thin veil of smoke. The half million Arabs in Palestine are protesting vigorously against the Zionist movement. In Mesopotamia a government nominally Arabic is being established under British tutelage. Moslem missionaries have been given fresh impetus, and tell of a renewed effort to convert Japan.

IN 1915 the cataclysm of Pan-Islamic revolt was avoided by a hand's breadth, according to the statement issued by the British government. Throughout the former domains of Islam the European Powers have been forced to make concessions, notably in Egypt where the Nationalist movement has reached its greatest expression. Until recently the leaders and intellectual elements of Islam have cautioned forebearance, "as the hour to strike has not yet come." Time is on their side, and they can wait. Another war between the nations of the white race would bring their domination over Moslem peoples to an end. Whether or not the Moplah outbreak is the first engagement of the heralded jehad it is certain that white security is threatened, and further exhaustion by wars would make the Pan-Islam dream a costly reality.

WHEN MANNERS TELL

Sir Ernest Shackleton's announcement of his intention to lead yet another expedition to the Antarctic recalls a story he once told concerning an incident that happened in one of his former expeditions.

After remarking that the members of his party were always extremely good humored and polite, he went on to say that a certain professor in particular attained a degree of politeness unusual under such trying circumstances.

"Are you busy Mawson?" he called out one night to another member of the party who was in the tent.

"I am," said Mawson.

"Very busy?" said the professor.

"Yes, very busy."

"If you are not too busy Mawson, I am down a crevasse."

The professor was found hanging down a crevasse by his four fingers, a position which he could not have held on to for any length of time.

A CUTE RETORT

At a reception given in London by Mrs. Harvey, the wife of the American Ambassador, on Independence Day, her husband, Colonel Harvey, weighed in with what might be considered an exceedingly witty impromptu.

One of the guests called his attention to the fact that the United States Supreme Court had recently decided that beer was a medicine, thereby giving American doctors the right to prescribe a bottle or a barrel of it, as they might see fit.

Colonel Harvey smiled audibly. "Beer may be a medicine," he said, "but I don't think it's likely ever to become a drug on the market."

Lord Bryce Calls U.S. Constitution Greatest Contribution To Science Of Government

BY VISCOUNT BRYCE

(Author of "The American Commonwealth"; former British Ambassador to the United States—in an address just made before an audience of statesmen and scholars in London.)

The Constitution of the United States, drafted in 1787, and set to work in 1789, may be deemed the greatest single contribution ever made to government as an applied science.

It was less original than some of its foreign admirers have supposed, for the best of its provisions were not fire-new, but drawn partly from the constitutional laws and usages of England, partly from the Constitutions of the several States, which were themselves modifications of the laws and usages under which the States had been living when they were colonies.

But those principles embodied in the Federal Constitution were so well selected from the materials which lay before the framers, and were so skilfully fitted together to form a compact whole, firm yet elastic, capable of bearing the strain which circumstances imposed, that the authors of the Constitution deserve all the praise they have received.

The provision made for the conduct of foreign affairs has been charged with inefficiency because, while the function of negotiating with foreign countries is left to the Executive, the confirmation of executive action and the approval of treaties rest with one branch of the Legislature, the Federal Senate.

PUBLIC ILLY INFORMED

The result of this division of powers is that, though the President can in practice so handle foreign relations as to manoeuvre or precipitate the nation into hostilities, he cannot conclude a binding agreement with any other country. He can bring about war, but he cannot make peace.

Neither America nor England has yet come near to solving the problem how foreign affairs should be conducted and treaties concluded in conformity with the will of the people. The difficulty lies in the nature of the case, and particularly in the fact that in no country is public opinion sufficiently informed to exert the power which of right belongs to it. The case for popular control of diplomacy is irrefragable in theory, but theory presupposes a knowledge of the facts by the people which no people has yet been able to acquire.

For nearly a century after American independence had been recognised in 1783, at a time when nearly the whole European continent was controlled by arbitrary Governments, America stood forth to the world as the sanctuary of freedom. That pre-eminent position it has ceased to hold. Freedom has now spread all over Europe.

"ONE SUPREME EXAMPLE"

The Marxian Communists have, indeed, now begun to paint America in the blackest colors as a land where the power of wealth grinds the poor, and for whose evils there remains no remedy except revolution. If the lines with which European fancy decked it out were too bright a century ago, far further from the truth are the denunciations which it now receives.

The sober judgement of history will always honor the founders of the Republic, and the people who have brought their Republic safe through many trials, for one supreme example which they gave to the world when it was sadly needed.

If ever those moral forces which have led more than a hundred millions of men, filling a vast continent, to obey that common will which they have provided peaceful means for ascertaining, if ever those forces that have created and preserved the sense of common duty and common interest, should show signs of decay, what hope would remain for the world?

Freedom in America, as elsewhere, has been at some moments abused, at others undermined or secretly filched away; but the pride in freedom and the trust in the saving and healing power of freedom have never failed her people, and have enabled them many a time to recover what they seemed to be losing. It is by these moral forces that nations live.

BRITAIN CAN PROFIT

Britain can profit better by the experience of America than can any other country, because the institutions and social life of the two nations are based upon like foundations.

Just as the experiments made by America are more profitable to Englishmen than are those made by other countries, so it is also easier for us, if we take a little pains, to understand American minds and feelings than to understand those of any other people.

Reciprocal comprehension is, of course, best attained by the largest possible measure of personal intercourse. The more Americans come to England and the more Englishmen go to America, the better for both. But as it is impossible for more than an extremely small percentage of each people to create by this means a genuine mutual comprehension of each people by the other, the next best thing is for each to learn as much as it can about the history of the other.

Here, again, it is only a small percentage that has the time and capacity for learning from history, but that small percentage ought to include the leading minds, and especially the public teachers, speakers and writers of each country. With them it lies to form and guide public opinion in their respective countries.

In these days no Englishman can think of Anglo-American re-

"COMMANDER" Stories
(Admiral Sir Edward H. Seymour)

We sailed in H. M. S. PIQUE from the Gulf of Pechili early in July 1858, were 30 days beating down to Hongkong, and 50 days from there to Singapore.

In April 1901 I was again at Shanghai: this place is like no other I know of, being a thoroughly cosmopolitan trading settlement.

It is hardly a port at all, as only moderately-sized vessels can get up to it, and the anchorage off the mouth of its river is a poor one.

lations merely in their effect upon his own country. Every view will be deceptive as well as defective which does not take in the other great peoples. We must learn to think in world terms.

Now the growth of the English-speaking races is the most significant phenomenon of the last 100 years. That growth continues, and is likely to continue. It would be folly, as well as presumptuous vanity, for members of our stock to undervalue the contributions made to thought and letters, science and art which the other great peoples, and especially France, Germany and Italy have made and are making. These contributions have been in some directions as great or greater than our own.

But it is the English language that has spread and is spreading most rapidly. It is the English-speaking peoples that have grown and are growing most rapidly in wealth and population and that new conduct or control most of the commerce of the world.

Their influence upon the world at large is therefore greater than that of any other racial stock, and that influence would, if directed to the same ends, make a difference to world progress greater than any other influence could exert.

The common language and the common principles—what I have called the axioms of conduct—bring the different English-speaking peoples nearer one another than to any other people or stock.

INFLUENCE IN THE WORLD

Regarding them as a community in the widest sense, and suppose its general opinion to be playing round such large questions as those of the maintenance or reduction of armaments, the protection of native races, the freedom or restriction of economic intercourse between States, the extension or narrowing of the functions of government, and the many projects now discussed for the organisation of industry by legal or extra legal methods, and suppose the experiments tried by the several members of that vast community to be closely watched and studied by the others, may we not believe that the intellectual and moral influence of that opinion upon the world at large would be far greater than any one nation has exercised since the dissolution of the Roman Empire?

The first step toward the formation of such an opinion must be the fuller knowledge, the more perfect comprehension by each English-speaking people of the mind and purposes of the other, not for the purposes of joint political action, however desirable that may on some occasions be, but in the broadly fraternal spirit which regards the welfare of all mankind.

It is in the development of intellectual, and moral sympathy rather than in formal alliances, unions of ten unstable and sometimes exciting jealousy or suspicion in other nations, that we may find that kind of co-operation which will best promote that welfare.

We see today an old world, a world weary of the past, distracted on this side of the Atlantic by a strife which perpetuates itself in creating fresh wrongs that breed fresh resentments and revengeful passions. The time has surely come when a supreme effort should be made to inspire in the most enlightened and far-sighted minds in all the peoples a spirit of good will which may replace international hatreds by a sense of common interests and a vision of the blessings concord may bring. The goal may be distant, but it is a splendid goal toward which we are bound to strive.

is a popular way of describing anything which has proved to be of exceptional value, and may therefore be employed to describe that old and favourite preparation—Beecham's Pills. The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box" when speaking of Beecham's Pills. This is certainly high praise. But it is well-merited. Beecham's Pills have proved, times out of number, to be a "priceless" preparation in the treatment of digestive ailments. They bring relief; they safeguard the health; they effect remarkable cures. All who suffer in any way from biliousness, sick headache, constipation, impaired appetite, and the resulting loss of energy and want of tone should take

TOKUGAWA RECALLED
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 30.—Mr. Tokugawa, Secretary of the Japanese Legation, has been recalled and will leave Peking for Tokio early next month, soon after the arrival of Mr. Ito who is to succeed Mr. Tokugawa. During several years residence in Peking Mr. and Mrs. Tokugawa have made many friends among all the nationalities represented at the Capital.

The telegram of recall gives no indication of Mr. Tokugawa's next post, but it is believed in other Legations that he has been chosen as a member of the Japanese Delegation to the Pacific Conference at Washington, where his intimate knowledge of affairs in China would be of great service.

After the Conference Mr. Tokugawa will probably be given a post in Europe, in accordance with the Japanese practice of keeping members of the Diplomatic service in touch with the changing conditions both in the East and the West.

"TOTON"
is a magnificent picture with gorgeous settings and photography that is absolutely poetry of vision.

"TOTON"
is a picture you will like. You have seen Olive Thomas in many plays but this is the best of her. It is a play that will hold you entranced to the last charming scene.

MABLE NORMAND

"PECK'S BAD GIRL" is a whole show in itself. It's circus, hippodrome, comedy, drama and melodrama all thrown into one big plot, boiled down, stirred round and served a la carte.

It's a broad comedy, alright; the kind of stuff all you have been waiting for.

It will drive right home to every member of the family, from the little freckled-face Willie to dignified Aunt Priscilla, who as a rule doesn't care much for the movies.

HOW TO TELL WHEN YOU ARE IN LOVE

1. Find some excuse to hold the man's hand (Physical Contact is necessary.)
2. Then note:—
   a. If your pulse beats faster.
   b. If your heart throbs harder.
   c. If you blush.

If none of these symptoms appear, he is NOT the man.
